

ANNOUNCEMENT

WHAT WAS FORMERLY KNOWN AS WOLF BROTHERS' SALES STABLES AND TRUCKING CO., AT 79 WOODSTOCK AVENUE, PUTNAM, WHOSE PROPRIETOR WAS THE LATE JOSEPH WOLF, IS NOW BEING REORGANIZED AND HEREAFTER WILL BE KNOWN AS

A. WOLF & CO.

The new firm's title is based on the name of the young Abraham Wolf, son of the late Joseph Wolf, founder of the business. The business is being reorganized for the benefit of the son, the widow and other children of the late Joseph Wolf.

Mr. Louis Wolf, who has been appointed guardian of Abraham Wolf, will look after his interest in the business and Morris Fisher and Hyman Mofsenon will be actively engaged in conducting it.

It is therefore requested that all firms and individuals with whom the late Joseph Wolf had business relations will continue to do business with the reorganized firm.

The firm will continue to be actively engaged in the horse business and livery business as well as to continue its dealings in junk and metal.

Mr. Lewis Wolf will leave within a week for the West to purchase one or two carloads of horses which are to be shipped to Putnam for a sale to the people of Eastern Connecticut.

Every attention and courtesy, fair and square dealing, as in the past, is assured to all.

A. WOLF & CO., 79 Woodstock Avenue, Putnam, Conn.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

William H. Putnam, a Hartford broker and a former resident of Danielson, is listed among ten men who have been suggested as candidates for the republican party for nomination as mayor of Hartford. At the present time Mr. Putnam is finance commissioner of Hartford.

Up to Saturday afternoon there were no developments in the case, to fix the responsibility for the safe robbery, during the early hours of Friday morning, at the Goodyear Mills restaurant.

This week brings a special town meeting and a special borough meeting at which citizens will be called upon to pass upon some important matters, including the budget of the town for the current fiscal year and the matter of an advance in water rates to residents of Danielson.

There was more than four feet of water in the cellar of the passenger station of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. company here Saturday morning, a flood accumulation that came in from the streets during the night. Agent Daniel O'Connell said that no great difficulty was expected on account of the water being in the cellar, from which it would seep out, as it has on similar occasions in the past.

"Confession," as remarkable a picture drama as you will see this year, will be shown at the Orpheum theatre today (Monday) and Tuesday, matinee and evening, with Henry B. Waltham, star of the famous masterpiece "The Birth of a Nation," as the leading character—adv.

Storm conditions again interfered Saturday in reaching the business prospects for the day of Danielson's merchants. Traveling conditions were so bad and transportation conditions so irregular that only a small percentage of the usual Saturday influx of out-of-town buyers came here.

If one has an income tax return to make, this is his last week for compliance with the law. Many here have not as yet filed their returns, and will be subject to a heavy penalty if they do not do so before March 15.

A flood that came down off the Connecticut region made trouble for residents of Reynolds street during Saturday morning. Frozen drains and clogged outlets through which the great quantity of water would regularly find its way into the rivers were responsible for the trouble, which was averted, eventually, into Main street and ran off through the drains that connect with the sewer system.

Early morning passengers for Goodyear Saturday found the highway between that place and Danville blocked by a touring car that had stalled in the rough going. As a result of the blockade a number of Goodyear employees had to hike out the final lap of their journey to work, and walking wasn't at all pleasant.

The big building program, which there is feverish interest in getting under way in Danielson, was again delayed by the snow-blast of Saturday. It was hoped during the early part of the winter to have work at Goodyear and in Danielson in full swing by March 1, but conditions have made this impossible.

The gale and storm of Friday night and Saturday caused material damage to wire lines in the Danielson territory. Scurrying trees and wires often came in contact with the result that numbers of telephone subscribers found their service interrupted or impaired.

Archbishop Edward J. Healy, of Rockville, will be the Lenten preacher at St. Alban's church Thursday evening of this week.

No statement for trial has yet been made of the case of Gertrude A. Wardell vs. the town of Killingly, but it is stated that this case, in which so many of Killingly's citizens are interested, will probably be heard during the present term of the superior court.

It was estimated Saturday that more than an inch of rain fell from about 7 o'clock Friday evening until 8 a. m. Saturday, when the wind shifted to the northwest and blew in a storm of hail and snow. The great quantities of water that gushed through Danielson's streets during the night ran off without causing any material damage, though some cellars were flooded. The rivers during Saturday were showing signs of rising under the steady inflow of water from feeding brooks and from the watershed at large, but the heavy ice was holding fast and showing no signs of breaking up. The school street brook, cause of great damage and irritation many times in the past, was taking care of all the water that was coming through it and not overflowing its banks. This was also true of other outlets for surplus water in the borough, but many drains were frozen and the danger point was approached as to flood conditions, in various sections of Danielson.

Shoveling brigades were out in force in about every street in Danielson and long gutter lines were opened up in an effort to prevent flooding. The great supply of water now available is being utilized by some of the mills to furnish power, and thereby in material measure, lessening the shortage of coal.

The arrival Saturday morning of four carloads of coal for the Plainfield and Danielson Gas and Electric company at the Plainfield power station helped stave off for another period a threatened shortage of fuel. There was only about 100 tons of coal at the power plant when the four cars came.

The supply now on hand there will keep the machines whirling during all of the present week, and in the meantime more cars of the 25 on the road and assigned to the company are expected to arrive.

Notwithstanding Saturday's storm, traveling conditions are expected to be better during the present week than they have been in this section at any time since the last of January. Much snow fell Saturday and in places it drifted badly, but there was not as much of it as in some of the other storms, and it will be quickly pushed aside where it blocks the main traffic lanes.

The rain carried off great quantities of snow, though other quantities remain. Traffic men feel, however, that the worst of the winter's conditions are over and that a few days more will bring things nearer back to normal than has been the case for weeks.

Mrs. E. E. Hammett will have the members of the Ladies' Bazaar society, of the Congregational church at her home for a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

A genuine shortage here was relieved at the week end by big motor trucks that forced their way through with a supply that will tide the few users of the fluid over for the time being.

Mrs. Jennie Rebecca Adams, 64, the widow of Ramon Adams, died at her home in East Killingly, Saturday. She leaves a son, Frank, and three brothers, Elmer, S. Franklin, and Danielson. John Franklin of Providence, and Fred W. Franklin of Boston.

"Confession," a remarkable motion picture, with Henry B. Waltham as the star, at the Orpheum theatre at 10 o'clock and Tuesday at 8 o'clock. Don't miss this great picture—adv.

Every water-user in the East Brooklyn fire district has signed a petition for a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission relative to the advance in rates by the Crystal Water Co. At a meeting of the board of the district Saturday it was voted to ask for a hearing before the commission, also to act in harmony with the borough of Danielson in presenting the case. The committee that will represent the fire district is made up of E. C. Babson, Arnold Wild and DeForest Wells.

PUTNAM

"Souvenir" W. H. Taylor writes from Hartford: "March 17 is not only the birthday of St. Patrick, Ireland's patron saint but as well that of former Representative George M. Sampson of Woodstock, who began to keep his memory green on that date in 1859."

This week brings the republican caucus in Putnam and all surrounding towns to name delegates to the republican state convention that will meet at New Haven later in the month to select delegates to the republican national convention.

The current issue of the Connecticut Citizen contains this item of local interest: "It has not been mere chance that we can celebrate the victory which is ours today. We are the successors of the pioneers—of fifty-five years ago this month—in the city of Norwich, Conn., and organized this union under the leadership of our great war governor, William A. Buckingham and such citizens as Robbins Dattel, James W. Manning (of Putnam) and Benjamin Douglas, pledging their time, money and work to the overthrow of the honor traffic of the state and who a few months later helped form the National Temperance society, so blazing the way for the results which we see and rejoice in at this time."

Spring's effort at early arrival received a definite setback on Saturday, when a near-blizzard swept out of the northwest, close on the heels of an easterly storm of rain, and again blanketed this section of country under snow which in turn covered over the heavy coating of ice that remained after the severe rainstorm of Friday night and the early hours of Saturday morning. As it has become the regular thing to note this winter, this late storm again tied up transportation lines, in greater or lesser degree, and made getting about an extra difficult proceeding. Great quantities of water that poured off the heights about the city managed to run off into rivers without causing any very material damage, but some sections of the city, particularly Sunnyside, came reports of flooded cellars and other such inconveniences from the storm.

Saturday's rain, snow and gale left the highways in very bad condition again, and hundreds of dollars additional expense will be added to the thousands already spent in keeping the routes partly open to traffic since the first of the year.

A definite movement on the part of the "wets" of this city to get in line with workers who have been voting scores of New England towns damp, if only academically, during the past few weeks is underway in this city, and it has been stated on good authority that unless the powers that be in the republican and democratic parties of this city recognize the wishes of the majority of the voters of both parties, as expressed at the polls many times in the past, when it comes to time to name candidates for representatives in the legislature and a candidate for senator from this district for the fall elections, the "wets" will put their own candidates in the field, and they are willing to bet their last dime that they will elect them, too. The object of the "wet" campaign in Putnam will be to forestall insofar as Putnam is concerned, and attempt to put through drastic prohibition bills by the Connecticut legislature. A spokesman for the "wets" here said on Saturday that this city, for years a license city, will not submit to any programme, on the part of republican or democratic leaders, that seeks to ignore the fact that prohibition is not a dead issue, but the liveliest one now in sight. "We'll get what we want in the way of nominations out of one or the other of the old parties or we'll name some candidates that will beat any list of 'drys' that they can nominate" is the ultimatum of the "wets."

"We are not at all interested in what the organizations want or their fear of 'dry' forces. We 'wets' are in the majority and they'll have to listen to us or take a trimming. The majority of the voters here in Putnam insist on being allowed to register their opinions at the polls on the prohibition issue, relative to candidates for the legislature, and they openly challenge the 'dry' forces to a battle of ballots. We have no interest in party politics. What Woodstock, Thompson, Eastford, Ashford and other 'dry' towns of the district, with a minority of voters, want is only incidentally to us in this instance. We have the votes and we'll use them to protect our interests, regardless of the plans or programmes of any party organization."

On the strength of this, the prospects are for some interesting political doings in Putnam this fall. An assistant sales and stock girl is wanted for permanent position with good pay. Apply at the Quinebaug store—adv.

The funeral of Napoleon Lacroix was held from his home on Railroad street, Saturday morning with funeral services at St. Mary's church, where relatives and friends gathered, notwithstanding the severity of the storm. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

When "Americanization" was the keynote of the proceedings of the 34th annual meeting of the Woman's Congregational Home Missionary union of Connecticut at West Haven, Mrs. Henry J. Thayer of this city was listed among the delegates from Windham county. There has been intimation in the press of the state that a cure for baldness has been discovered and that the famous Bald Head Club of America, of which there are members in this section, may go out of existence as a result. It has been intimated that the discovery of the cure for baldness is a member of the Wool Growers' association, L. H. Healey of North Woodstock, secretary of the state board of agriculture, has received communications relative to the matter now before the public and in one of his answers says to an inquirer: "I think that you could do better selling the food element to restore hair to barbers rather than sheep growers. If it works as you state, barbers would have to cut hair all the time or they could not keep up to their job."

Anselm Mayotte post, American Legion of this city, has made known that it needs chairs for the equipment of its new quarters. Those who cheered for the boys while they were
